

Statement from Eric Cadesky MD CM, CCFP

I believe that we deserve to be respected and paid as the skilled, dedicated professionals that we are. I believe that supporting community-based primary care improves personal, professional, and community health. I believe that new voices bring new ideas and new approaches to compliment previous experience and success. I believe that technology can improve continuity of care and inter-professional communication; I believe that we can all communicate better.

I believe that doctors have more in common with each other than differences: I believe that we are stronger together. I believe that we can reclaim our status as the most capable health care leaders and that the BCMA can bring us together and speak with a common voice for the betterment of us all.

I believe that having worked in several provinces and countries helps me see the possibilities we have in BC. I believe that as an active, full-service clinician with administrative experience I understand the challenges facing us as clinicians and stewards of the health care system. As your colleague, I believe that I can represent your values within the BCMA and our community.

Thank you for your consideration of my candidacy for BCMA delegate.
